HOOF PRODUCTS CO.

Companies that start small tend to be sole proprietorships that use their founder's names. This may have been the case with John C. Hoof Company of Chicago, Illinois. When the company grows its name may change to reflect the growth. It is my conjecture that Mr. Hoof's company grew into the Hoof Product's Company as shown on the corner card of this June 3, 1941, posting that uses perfin pattern J24A.

A photocopy of this cover along with the recommendation that Hoof Products Company, 6543 S. Laramie Avenue, Chicago, Illinois be added to the revised US Catalog as a supplemental user.
